FOR NATIONAL DEFENSE—

A "Bill of Rights" for Service Families

In a hard hitting speech before the Air Force Association's annual dinner 21 Aug. at Boys Town, Omaha, Neb., Secretary of the Air Force Harold E. Talbott set forth what might well be termed a Bill of Rights for the personnel of the Armed Services and their families.

Sec. Talbott

Furthermore, he gave a solemn promise that he would work for its accomplishment, including an across-the-board pay raise.

Approximately 1,500 members and guests of the Association heard the

Greetings to Journal on 91st Birthday

The Honorable Charles E. Wilson, Secretary of Defense—"For ninety-one years the Army Navy Air Force Journal has advocated a strong America and devoted itself to the interests of the men and women in uniform who help keep it strong. My heartiest congratulations for the good work you have done in the past and my best wishes for continued success."

Honorable Robert T. Stevens, Secretary of the Army—"I am happy to see the Army Navy Air Force Journal hale and hearty on its 91st Anniversary. Throughout the years it has earned the confidence of the military community by unyielding devotion to the best interests of the Services and the welfare of all their personnel. Its vigorous support of the principles and programs which contribute to the vitality of our Armed Forces, and the high standards to which it has consistently adhered entitle it to a place of honor among military publications. My heartiest congratulations and best wishes for more years of equally fine accomplishment."

Honorable C. S. Thomas, Secretary of the Navy—"I am pleased to learn that The Army Navy Air Force Journal has reached the 91st annual milestone in its distinguished career."

"The years that have passed since the first edition of the Journal was published have been those of the greatest advancement and most rapid change in military history. Only a brief look at the future is needed to see that change and development will

Army Tells Plans For Col. Promotions

The Army will convene a selection board at the Pentagon next month to consider more than 1500 officers for temporary promotion to colonel — most of them with at least 10 years in grade. Announcement is expected shortly concerning a new selection board for lieutenant colonels.

(Published on Pages 1579 and 1593 of this issue are the names of first lieutenants and captains newly promoted to temporary captain and major.)

It is reported that during September there will probably be about 1000 additional promotions to these two grades.

The "best qualified" method of selection will be used if ROPA signed.

As of 31 Dec. 1954, Army list lieutenant colonels must have had at least 10 years in grade, with the same criteria to be employed for officers of the Judge Advocate Generals Corps and the Veterinary Corps.

Medical Corps officers must have at least 11 years service on that date; Dental Corps, 9; MSC, 9; and Chaplains, 9 years and 1 month.

Division Rotation Scheme Will Bolster ZI Strategic Reserve; O.K. Seen Near

Secretary Robert T. Stevens is expected to announce shortly approval of plans to start division rotation—long sought Pentagon goal—for major Army forces going to and from Europe and the Pacific.

The division rotation scheme will be tied to the Administration's promise to strengthen the Strategic Reserve in the Zone of Interior and is related to the troop withdrawal from Korea.

Planning is still in the tentative stage, but Defense leaders already see in the division rotation proposal the hopeful prospect of squeezing additional combat divisions from available manpower.

The Army now has 19 combat divisions, 5 in Europe, 6 in the Pacific and 8 in the ZI, plus 6 training divisions, three armored, two infantry and one airborne.

The belief is that when the division rotation program is fully under way (probably in two or three years) it will be possible to reduce the number of training divisions and add combat units.

Disclosing that the Army had the division rotation program under active study, THE JOURNAL reported on 31 July that the plan might mean a three years' tour overseas for a division followed by three years in the United States.

During the first two years of a returned division's service in the ZI, the likelihood is that it would train recruits, some for assignment to the division now overseas with which it switched places.

Then, probably for the last year of its duty in the States before returning overseas, the division would concentrate ex-

STRENGTH UP

The Armed Forces, in a switch from the trend of previous months, actually scored a net gain in manpower during July.

Newly released statistics show the Services entered August with an estimated 3,303,803 men and women—an increase of 1060 from the prior month's total.

New strengths:

Army—1,407,000, up about 3000.
Navy—725,720, down about 8000.
Air Force—954,700, up about 7000.
Marines—223,700, down about 1000.

Fewer But Busier Ships Says CNO

The Navy will reduce the number of ships and men in the Pacific "as the result of the end of the shooting wars," but will get more service from each vessel, according to Admiral Robert B. Carney, Chief of Naval Operations.

He made this known in a letter to VAdm. A. S. Merrill, USN-Ret., an official of the Navy League, which summarized achievements in the campaign to increase career attractiveness.

The CNO said that "by improving operating efficiencies we have found it possible to increase the ratio of operating time to yard overhaul time for all ships. A carrier, for instance," he related, "can now operate 25 months for each four

PROMOTION PROSPECTS IF ROPA IS SIGNED

Thousands of Reserve officers of all the Services are following anxiously the fate of the Reserve Officer Promotion Act, ROPA cleared Congress during the final moments of the 83d Congress—over objection from the White House. It now remains to be seen whether the President will O.K. the measure or veto it.

Significance of the President's forthcoming decision is pointed up in a detailed analysis of the bill published on page 1571.

Pentagon Prepares Rules for Home Loan Benefits to Active Military Personnel

The Defense Department will issue within the next two weeks the implementing directive for the newly authorized Home Loan benefits for military personnel on active duty.

Then, the Services will release necessary regulations already in process of preparation.

Congress amended the National Housing Act to permit Home Loan Mortgage guarantees at a 4½% interest rate to military personnel who have been on active duty for two years or longer.

In order to obtain a loan, a person in service must first receive certification from the Defense Department. Certifying authority is expected to be delegated to the field to insure rapid handling of applications.

The law provides that the F.H.A. may guarantee 95 per cent of a mortgage or $17,100, whichever is lower, on the appraised value of the home. In many cases, it is pointed out, the appraised value may be below the actual selling cost.

The Defense Department—actually the individual Services—will pay annually the mortgage insurance premium which is one-half of one per cent of the unpaid balance.

As yet, application forms for requesting the Defense certification are not available. They won't be until the basic directive is completed and regulations issued.

Pentagon officials emphasize, however, that processing of certification requests will be speedy. After that, it will be up to the individual to work out arrangements with the F.H.A. and the lending agency.

It is anticipated that the Defense Department and the Services will certify virtually all individuals with two years service or more who state that they need housing.

One of the reasons Congress voted the liberalized Home Loan benefits for military personnel was to permit individuals to begin payments on a home prior to retirement and thereby spread out over a longer period of years the mortgage payments.

Division Rotation Seen Key Part In Army "Long Haul" Manpower Plans

clusively on combat readiness training.

As a consequence, it is believed the Army would be able to cut down on its formal training overhead, primarily by reducing the number of training divisions.

There is related speculation the Army would be able to squeeze one or two additional combat-type divisions from available manpower, particularly with overseas replacement needs reduced.

The newly announced plans for withdrawal of four divisions from Korea will be a major factor in hastening the advent of division rotation, since this withdrawal has been long in the plans—in fact was dictated by the budget sent to Congress in January—but was delayed because of the situation in the Pacific, particularly in Indo-China.

Now, Army leaders are able to concentrate on developing plans for the "long haul" and division rotation will be a key part of this planning.

The possibility of obtaining additional combat-type divisions from available manpower and reducing the training overhead—a persistent objective of Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson—is not the only aim of the current proposal.

Division rotation will have other benefits, possibly of greater significance.

First of all, division rotation is seen certain to be one of the most important steps taken in recent years to raise morale. The Army is sure that esprit will rise and with it the reenlistment rate as enlisted men are given the opportunity to serve extended periods—possibly an entire career—with one division.

Concurrent travel of dependents, wherever possible, also will be linked to the program. The separation of families has been a prime morale problem for years.

The Army feels that overall combat effectiveness will be increased greatly as division integrity is preserved to the extent that is possible in a largely draft Army.

Division rotation has been an objective of Army planners since the start of the war in Korea and even before. But because of such problems as the nine-month combat rotation, peaks and valleys in manpower intake and output and other manpower difficulties the Army has been unable until now to give serious thought to division rotation.

J. R. Alison Chosen To Head AFA

John R. Alison, a former Regular officer in the Army Air Corps and subsequently Assistant Secretary of Commerce for Aeronautics, was elected president of the Air Force Association at its annual meeting in Omaha 21 Aug.

Mr. Alison succeeds General George C. Kenney, USA-Ret., World War II air commander in the Southeast Pacific.

Mr. Alison was commissioned in the U. S. Army Air Corps in 1937 following his graduation from the University of Florida. He served as lend-lease advisor to Great Britain and Russia, was air attache to Moscow, a squadron commander under General Chennault in China, and operations officer of the 5th Air Force in the Pacific. He resigned from the Service in 1946. He is now President and director of the Transit Van Corp.

At the AFA's annual dinner, held in Boys Town, presentation was made of their annual awards. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles was named "Aviation's Man of the Year" for his "recognition of airpower as an instrument of our national policy."

Lt. Col. John Paul Stapp, chief of the Air Force's Aero-Medical Field Laboratory at Holloman Air Development Center, N. M., received the Science Trophy for "his research into the problem of

Inter-Service Group Launches POW Study

A new Defense Department study group—officially The Ad Hoc Committee on Indoctrination and Training of Military Personnel Concerning Conduct While in a Prisoner of War Status—held its second meeting on 27 August under chairmanship of Brig. Gen. John H. Ives, USAF.

General Ives and Col. H. E. Townsend represent the Office of the Assistant Defense Secretary for Manpower and Personnel.

Other members are Brig. Gen. H. P. Powell, and Col. Elmer Schmierer, Army; Brig. Gen. R. H. Ridgley, and Col. R. G. Weede, both USMC, for the Navy; and Brig. Gen. Richard H. Carmichael, and Col. John R. Hutchinson, USAF.

It is recalled that at the time of the decision in the Schwable case, then Navy Secretary Robert B. Anderson, who is now Deputy Defense Secretary, recommended that a study be made of the POW problem by an outstanding group of civilian and military leaders.

Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson has decided apparently that at least in the preliminary stages the inquiry is to be conducted exclusively by military men.

The Ad Hoc Committee has been asked to recommend an approach for a comprehensive study of the problem and to recommend terms of reference and an organization of military specialists to explore all aspects of the problem.

high-speed flight, conducted at grave personal risk."

The Flight Trophy went to Maj. Charles E. "Chuck" Yeager, first man to break the sonic barrier, for his "continued skillful piloting of research aircraft."

AF Will Redeploy Units From Far East

Fifth Air Force Headquarters in Korea will be shifted in September to Nagoya AB in Japan as part of a redeployment of Air Force units in the Far East and will be consolidated with Headquarters, Japan Air Defense Force.

However, an advanced unit of Fifth AF Headquarters will remain in Korea.

The Air Force said it will maintain "a substantial number of highly mobile units in the Far East, backed up by the U.S. based units which have demonstrated their ability to cross the Pacific and go into action on extremely short notice."

Lt. Gen. Roger Ramsey, USAF, will continue in command of the Fifth Air Force. Maj. Gen. Roy H. Lynn, USAF, present commander, JADF, will become vice commander of the Fifth.

The Air Force said it will announce later other units to be redeployed.

months of yard time as against the old ratio of 20 to four."

Admiral Carney said this will enable the Navy to slow up the tempo for all operating ships and still meet the same commitments with less burden on crews. He reported the Navy has prepared a program for yard overhaul which requires firm yard commitments three months in advance so that crew members can make their personal plans accordingly.

Admiral Carney revealed appointment of a Standing Committee on Personnel Readiness to provide better coordination between the Bureau of Personnel and the Fleet.

"The idea is to use people to better advantage, including their own advantage," said the CNO. "One thing we are shooting at here is improved 'career planning.' We want to channel better men into the important non-glamour jobs and without jeopardizing their futures."

Brig. Gen. Urban Niblo, Army Field Forces Ordnance Officer at Ft. Monroe, Va., has been reassigned as Deputy Commandant of the Armed Forces Industrial College at Ft. McNair, Washington, D. C.

PRESIDENT GIVES NOTICE OF MORALE FIGHT

The Eisenhower Administration has decided to go to bat again in the next Congress against opponents of adequate medical care for military families and has served notice it will fight for improved survivor benefits for Service dependents.

Reiterated Administration support for passage of remedial legislation in these areas came unexpectedly in the President's veto message this week of the 5 per cent increase for civilian employees of the Government.

Concluding the message, which explained the reasons for the veto decision, the Chief Executive declared:

"While this bill is limited to civilian personnel, I must observe parenthetically, that consideration of a complete Federal personnel program must eventually meet certain imperative needs of the members of the armed forces. These patriotic men and women, whose morale, skill and dedication to service are so important to us all, now lack adequate medical care for dependents and reasonable survivorship benefits for their families. It is most important that these needs of armed forces personnel, serving their country, often in remote corners of the world, engage our serious consideration."

What's ahead?

The President's statement means renewed efforts by the Defense Department to win passage for the Family Medical Care Bill, sidetracked in the election-year 83d Congress—reportedly because of opposition from the powerful American Medical Association. This measure would augment military medical facilities with use of civilian doctors and hospitals.

Secondly, the President's new statement means implicit endorsement for the Kaplan Report, which advocates improvement and equalization in Survivor Benefits and the inclusion of all military personnel under Social Security.

AF Tells Plans for '55 Selections To Extended Command and Staff Course

The Air Force will pick about 900 officers from approximately 2,000 nominees for attendance at Class 56 of the Command and Staff Course at Montgomery AFB, Ala., beginning in September 1955.

Names will be announced at the end of February.

To be eligible for the September 1955 class and those thereafter, officers must be serving in the grade of lieutenant colonel or major, must have at least 10 but not more than 14 years, 11 months and 29 days commissioned service and must not have passed their 43d birthday as of the class starting date.

The decision to announce names at least six months in advance of the starting date will permit losing commands to obtain replacements and allow individuals time to make personal plans, the Pentagon announcement explained.

Earlier this year, the Command and Staff Course, formerly known as the Field Officer Course, was extended from 22 weeks to nine months.

Selection of Regular and Reserve officers on active duty will be made by a central selection board at the Pentagon.

The Continental Air Command will choose a limited number of non-active duty officers for the course.

In addition to the eligibility criteria cited above, nominees must meet the following additional requirements, the Air Force said:

a. Have completed at least two-thirds of a normal overseas tour as of class starting date. If serving in an overseas command.

b. If serving on a stabilized tour, must be scheduled to complete such a tour within 90 days prior to or subsequent to class starting date.

c. If serving within the Zone of Interior, should normally have completed 18 months at present duty station as of class starting date. This requirement may be waived in exceptional circumstances where justification for the waiver exists.

d. Must not have attended a military career school, a USAFT Resident College course or a course at a civilian institution within one year prior to class starting date.

e. Air Force Reserve officers must be on extended active duty, must have accepted an indefinite Reserve commission and be serving in a voluntary indefinite status.

AIR FORCE OFFICE HELPS RETIRED

A Retired Activities Branch under the Chief of the Personnel Services Division in the Directorate of Military Personnel has been established at Air Force Headquarters.

The branch will handle all matters pertaining to retired Air Force personnel, with the exception of actual retirement actions and pay matters.

It will maintain continuing contacts with retired personnel through pamphlets, newsletters and other material which will keep these persons up to date on Air Force trends, techniques and policies.

Written inquiries should be addressed as follows: Director of Military Personnel, Personnel Services Division, ATTN: Retired Activities Branch, Headquarters USAF, Washington 25, D. C.

Reserve Promotion Plan to President; Becomes Effective Next July If Approved

The Reserve Officer Personnel Act—one of the last military bills to be approved by the 83d Congress—was forwarded this week to President Eisenhower at Denver.

If signed by the President, the measure becomes effective on 1 July 1955. It provides statutory promotion procedures for all Reservists in an active status.

Representative Leroy Johnson (R-Calif.), member of the House Armed Services Committee, said he believes President Eisenhower will sign the measure. The President had asked that action on the plan be deferred until early next year when the new Reserve Forces program will be presented to Congress.

Other Capitol observers believe, however, that the President may veto the measure on the grounds that enactment should be delayed until the Administration's new Reserve Forces plan is sent to Congress—early next year. It is unusual for the President to ask a Congressional Committee to hold up action on a bill that had been pending for more than a year and a half, but that is what the Chief Executive did when the Senate Armed Services Committee was considering the House-passed ROPA.

If enacted, Representative Johnson said, ROPA "will raise the morale of Reserve officers, will stimulate their interest in the Reserve program and emphasize the importance of our Reserve system in our national-security program."

Senator Margaret Chase Smith (R-Me.), member of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said the Act isn't designed to alter the shape of the Reserve but to encourage and improve the officer structure and to provide "a younger, more active, and more efficient officer personnel."

She noted that the Act, in itself, "does not promote anybody. It does, however, establish a system whereby officers will be given credit for precedence and rank purposes for each year of satisfactory service, and guarantees that periodically Reserve officers will be considered for promotion. If qualified, they will be promoted."

The plan, she said, will permit qualified Reserve officers "to keep pace with their contemporaries in the Regular military establishment."

The stated purpose of ROPA is to provide for officers of the Reserve components a statutory basis for promotion and elimination comparable to that provided for officers of the Regular components by the Officer Personnel Act of 1947.

The measure does not establish promotion and elimination procedures which are basically new. At present the Armed Forces Reserve Act of 1952 requires the Secretary of each military department to "establish an adequate and equitable system for the promotion of members of the Reserve components in an active status. Such promotion shall, insofar as practicable, be similar to that provided for members of the Regular component. . . ."

Thus, the Armed Services currently are operating their Reserve promotion procedures under regulations; ROPA translates the regulations into statutory form, but makes several important changes with respect to the Army and the Air Force.

Significant differences between current promotion regulations and the provisions of ROPA are summarized below. The summary generally reflects the "new" aspects of the plan:

All Services

ROPA spells out procedures for forced attrition among officers of the Reserve components in much the same manner as attrition is forced among Regular officers. Additionally it forces the attrition of officers who do not qualify for retention on an active status.

The Act also spells out authority whereby officers having between 18-19 years of service will be allowed three additional years in which to qualify for retirement, and officers having 19 or more years of service will be allowed two years in which to qualify, provided that such officers are not removed from active status for cause, physical disability, or age.

Army

ROPA authorizes the promotion to general officer grades of officers in an active status who are not assigned to a unit.

The measure makes an important change in the method of computing date of rank in that it permits the crediting of a year of satisfactory service as defined by the Army and AF Vitalization and Retirement Equalization Act of 1948 (PL 810) as one full year of precedence credit, and for periods not included in the retirement year, one day of promotion service for each retirement point earned.

Air Force

The method of computing date of rank is made the same as for the Army (see above).

ROPA also provides for mandatory consideration for promotion to grades of captain, major and lieutenant colonel on the basis of total service and time in grade. This mandatory consideration is not now provided in AF regulations.

Promotional consideration of officers to fill overall vacancies in the AFR also is provided. Under present AF policy the officer must hold a specific job requiring the higher grade in order to be eligible for promotion to that grade.

The measure provides for the elimination of second lieutenants who are not found qualified for promotion after three years of service. This elimination is contingent upon the individual having no further legal obligation to remain a member of the Reserve. If he is otherwise obligated he would be required to remain a member of the AFR in the grade of second lieutenant until he has fulfilled his obligation. This procedure is not provided for under present AF policy.

Navy-Marine Corps

Provisions which affect Naval Reservists amount to a statutory version of present promotion procedures. For the Navy, the Act concerns itself with Reserve officers in an active status only, and not those on active duty with the Naval Establishment. The temporary promotion of Reservists on active duty, as well as the permanent promotion of such officers, is governed by the OPA and is an integral part of the promotion system applying to regular officers. There is no provision in ROPA for promotion of Reservists on the inactive status list.

One of the features of the measure (objected to by the Navy) requires the conversion of the grade of Commodore in the Retired Reserve to the grade of rear admiral. Fifteen officers would be affected by this provision which the Navy says will "depreciate the selections which have been and will be made to the grade of rear admiral in the Naval Reserve."

Differences Between Services

In the Navy, Marine Corps and Coast Guard all promotions above the next to the lowest grade are made by selecting the "best qualified." In the Army and Air Force the "best qualified" requirement is mandatory only for promotion to the grades of colonel and above. In ranks below colonel, officers may be selected on the basis either of being "fully qualified" or "best qualified."

Although the Army and AF have identical systems of permanent promotion for Regular officers, they are not identical with respect to Reserves. With respect to officers assigned to units, the Army provides promotion only to fill vacancies in units to which such officers are assigned. Consideration for promotion to fill overall vacancies is extended only to officers not assigned to units.

The same is true of mandatory consideration for promotion to captain, major and lieutenant colonel at specified career phase points, irrespective of vacancies. There is no forced attrition from failure of selection in the case of the unit officer, while there is for the non-unit and active-duty officer up to the grade of lieutenant colonel.

In contrast to this system, the AF extends consideration to all AFR officers to fill overall vacancies, whether or not they are assigned to units, excepting officers of the Air National Guard of the United States. Mandatory consideration for promotion to captain, major and lieutenant colonel is extended to all Reserve officers, continue to be the principal characteristics of military affairs in the years ahead.

"Reporting the events of this changing scene with accuracy and sound editorial judgment presents a serious challenge—one which, according to the record of the past 91 years, the Journal will most capably meet."

"My congratulations to you and the staff of The Journal on reaching this important anniversary and best wishes for your continued success."

Honorable Harold E. Talbott, Secretary of the Air Force—"The Department of the Air Force joins me in offering congratulations on the 91st anniversary of the Army Navy Air Force Journal. Since the Journal was established in 1863 it has maintained the highest standards in its reporting and interpretation of Service news. You have our best wishes for continued success."

Admiral Arthur Radford, Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff—"I am confident that I speak for your far-flung leadership among the men and women in uniform when I extend warmest congratulations to the publishers and staff of the Army Navy Air Force Journal on its ninety-first anniversary. During its long service, The Journal has always lifted its voice on behalf of national preparedness and on behalf of the individual men and women who serve their country. I am confident that your successes of the past will be more than matched by your endeavors in the future."

General M. B. Ridgway, Chief of Staff U. S. Army—"In its ninety-one years of service to the members of the Nation's Armed Forces, the Army Navy Air Force Journal has merited the warmest appreciation and support. By its continuing concern for the maintenance of a strong national defense, The Journal has made outstanding contributions towards the security of our country. On behalf of the men and women of the Army, I extend heartiest congratulations and best wishes for your continued success."

Admiral Robert B. Carney, Chief of Naval Operations—"It again becomes my pleasant privilege to congratulate the Army Navy Air Force Journal on its anniversary. No publication could survive for 91 years in our free and competitive society unless it performed a real and needed service to its readers. As a reader of The Journal for some forty years myself, I can testify to the value of that service. May you continue for many, many years to come."

General N. F. Twining, Chief of Staff, U. S. Air Force—"Personally, and on behalf of the United States Air Force, I would like to congratulate you and your staff on the occasion of the 91st anniversary of the Army Navy Air Force Journal. You may well be proud of The Journal's excellent reputation in the field of Service journalism. I extend my best wishes for the future."

General Lemuel C. Shepherd, Jr., Commandant U. S. Marine Corps—"It gives me real pleasure to extend to you, and to every member of your staff, the heartiest congratulations of all ranks of the United States Marine Corps on the anniversary of the Army Navy Air Force Journal."

"Over the past 91 years The Journal has established a record of fair and accurate reporting, and an objective editorial policy which merits the plaudits of all military personnel. Its reputation as a reliable source of information has established this outstanding publication as an authoritative institution within the Armed Forces of the United States. I am confident that this splendid record of service, of which you have every right to be proud, will be maintained throughout the future."

"You have our sincere best wishes for continued success."

Rear Admiral J. A. Hirshfield, Acting Commandant, U. S. Coast Guard—"Once again it is a pleasure to note that the Army Navy Air Force Journal has completed another year of service to the Armed Forces. The observance of your 91st anniversary on August 29 should be a proud occasion for you and your staff."

"Few publications can boast of a record such as you have established through the years by your diligent search for news that is of interest to military personnel. Therefore, it should be gratifying to all of you to know that you are performing a most valuable service by the careful reporting and analysis of events which affect the Armed Forces, and that your efforts are appreciated."

"As in the past, The Journal continues to merit the confidence and respect of members of the Coast Guard, and it is my sincere hope and expectation that your good work will continue unabated."

including those in units and the Air-NGUS.

Concurrently, forced attrition from failure of selection to those grades also is provided. In addition, officers assigned to units, mobilization positions, the Air National Guard, and those on extended active duty are provided a means of accelerating promotion.

Authorized Strengths

ROPA establishes an authorized strength for Reserve officers in an active status in each of the Armed Services. This authorization may be increased by the Secretary concerned without further reference to the Congress. The following tabulation shows the strength authorized by ROPA:

Army	275,000
Navy	150,000
USMC	29,500
Air Force	200,000
USCG	6,000

Flag & General Officers

The plan fixes for each of the Services the authorized number of Reserve officers in general or flag grades serving in an active status. The following tabulation reflects these authorizations:

Army	207
Navy	48
USMC	5
Air Force	157
USCG	2

The Services now have 27 flag and general Reserve officers on active duty: eight in the Army, 17 in the Air Force and two in the Navy.

Grade Percentages

The numbers of Reserve officers in an active status authorized for each of the several services are distributed among the several grades, by provisions of the measure, according to the following percentages:

	Army	Navy	USMC	Air Force	USCG
Col.	2	1.5	2	1.8	0.6
Lt. Col.	6	7.0	6	4.6	3.5
Maj.	13	22.0	12	14.0	25.0
Capt.	35	37.0	35	32.0	37.0
1st Lt.)	44	32.5	45	47.6	33.9

Promotion Pattern

Although ROPA does not fix a definite pattern according to which officers would receive permanent promotion, it does provide approximately the same promotion expectancy among the Reserve components as apply in the Regular components.

More important, however, the bill assures that individual officers in the Army and AF will be periodically considered for promotion on a selection basis. Under the terms of the plan an officer having a prescribed minimum amount of service in any particular grade is eligible for consideration for promotion; after he has served a prescribed maximum period of service in that grade his consideration for promotion becomes mandatory when he completes the total required years of service prescribed in the bill. ### Appoint Former Navy Chaplain to USMA Post

The Rev. George Martin Bean has been appointed Chaplain, U. S. Military Academy. He will fill the position left vacant by the departure of Chaplain Frank E. Pulley last June.

The Rev. Mr. Bean was graduated from the University of Virginia in 1939 with a BS degree and in 1942 from the Virginia Theological Seminary with a BD degree (cum laude). During the war he was a Navy Chaplain for two and a half years. The last 18 months of his service were spent as Chaplain of an attack transport in the Pacific.

After the war, Mr. Bean was selected as University Chaplain at Lehigh University. In 1951 he won the Robinson Award presented to the outstanding young faculty member at Lehigh. From 1951 to 1952, Mr. Bean was Vice President and Program Chairman of the National Association of College and University Chaplains. In addition, he had recent parish experience in Richmond, Va., as Rector of St. Mark's Episcopal Church.

The new Chaplain, his wife, and three children will establish their home in the Rectory of the Cadet Chapel during the first week in September.

Knox Wherry Renters To Get Tax Refunds

The Fort Knox Construction Company, sponsors of the Wherry Housing projects here, has announced they are prepared to refund taxes collected from tenants as soon as the Federal Housing Administration approves.

The tax refunds will be subject to deductions for costs of litigation which the company incurred in its dispute with the state and county tax authorities. The FHA approval is all that is needed to set the refunding machinery into action.

Present and former tenants of the Wherry Housing units at the Armored Center who are affected by the tax refund are those who had the tax added to their rent. Therefore, those holding rent receipts prior to 1 June 1954, are encouraged to send these receipts to the Fort Knox Construction Company Office at Fort Knox so that preliminary computations can be made and refunds made with as little delay as possible when the FHA approval becomes final.

TESTS 'COPTER IN MOUNTAIN AND HUSH WORK

Cargo helicopter piloting in mountain areas is being taught in Third Army's Exercise MOUNTAINEER, recently started in North Carolina. The exercise, to continue until 31 Oct. also offers training in the use of helicopters in clandestine operations, the pilots training jointly with the 77th Special Forces.

Specially emphasized are landings, take-offs, and other operations under the low air-density conditions of mountain flying.

Mountain-area flying problems also are considered, such as: winds and air turbulence; navigation and orientation in mountainous areas; and confined area operation at high altitudes.

Army Adds Fluorine To Its Water Supply To Reduce Tooth Decay Incidence

Fluoridation of drinking water at Army installations which lack the fluorine necessary for oral health has been approved by the Army Medical Service.

In making the announcement, Maj. Gen. George E. Armstrong, MC, USA, The Surgeon General, said the Army's Corps of Engineers will provide the engineering skill needed to install the process.

Before posts and stations become eligible for the installation of a fluoridation unit, a request must be submitted to the Surgeon General accompanied by a report on the natural fluorine content of the water consumed on the post and the number of persons who would benefit from the procedure. The endorsement of the Corps of Engineers is also required from the engineering standpoint.

The factor of age in the population of an installation will be important in determining the priority of installing the fluoridation process. A census of the number of persons under 12 years of age, the number between 12 and 16, and those between 16 and 20 years living on the installation must be part of the application for fluoridation, General Armstrong said.

"It is now known that the amount of tooth decay in children is much greater in communities where drinking water is deficient in natural fluorides," he noted.

Regulations now in effect to control the granting of requests for fluoridation of

REVIVE DRUM & BUGLE CORPS

Each regiment in the 10th Division and the Division Artillery, Ft. Riley, Kans. will soon have its own Drum and Bugle Corps.

Returning to an Army practice which for many years made official ceremonies and reviews more colorful, the regimental drum and bugle corps will perform daily at such military functions as parades, welcoming ceremonies for visitors and guard mounts.

The men selected from each regiment and Divarty will be schooled by members of the 10th Division Band, under the direction of CWO Mariano Morales.

Then they will don special uniforms and return to their units to provide the musical background for any military occasion.

Comdr. Blesh Commands

USNA Naval Air Facility

Comdr. Paul K. Blesh, USN, has assumed command of the Naval Air Facility at Annapolis, Md. installation after relieving Comdr. Ralph W. Cousins, USN, who was ordered to a staff post with aircraft carrier Division Four at Norfolk, Va.

The 43-year-old flier became head of an array of aircraft ranging from the last word in multi-engine navigation trainers to vintage N3N bi-planes. The latter are hardly little two-place float planes used exclusively at Annapolis.

RAdm. Walter F. Boone, USN, new Commandant of the Severn River Naval Command, of which the Air Facility is a part, told the Navy airmen he was "vitaly interested" in the unit's operation and would make periodic flights in its aircraft.

WO Retirement Rules

Explained By Navy

New rules governing the retirement of permanent Navy warrant officers will go into effect on 1 Nov.

On that date, all permanent warrant officers will be retired 60 days after the last day of the month in which they complete 30 years service, unless a request for retention is submitted and approved by the Secretary of the Navy.

WO's who wish to continue on active duty beyond their retirement date, the Navy said, should send retention requests through the chain of command and the Chief of Naval Personnel at least four months before completion of 30 years service.

Requests should state the length of the extension desired, but should not extend beyond the statutory retirement age.

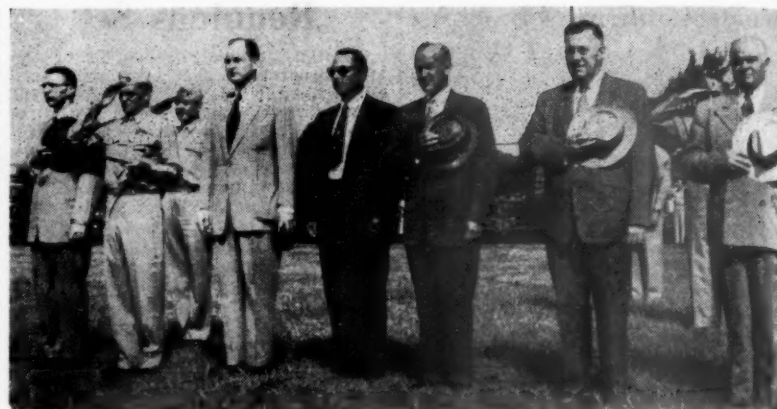

The new rule also applies to WO's serving in a higher grade.

Warrants who will have completed more than 30 years service before 1 Nov., will be retired on 31 Dec. unless an extension request is submitted and given approval, the directive states.

Under provisions of the Warrant Officer Act of 1954, mandatory retirement ages are 62 for male WO's and 55 for women WO's in cases where total service is less than 20 years. In these cases, the Navy Secretary is permitted to retain individuals until they complete 20 years service. He may not, however, keep them in service later than 60 days after the attainment of age 64 for men and 60 for women.

Tentative plans are being considered for the first national reunion of the 3d Marine Division Association to be held in Washington, D. C., next Summer.

The GRUMMAN F9F-9 "TIGER"

— New Supersonic U. S. Navy Fighter — is powered with the

J65 JET

One of the few combat airplanes in the world capable of flying faster than sound in level flight, the new Grumman "Tiger" is a formidable addition to the U.S. Navy's carrier-based striking force.

The tremendous thrust required for supersonic flight is developed by a Curtiss-Wright J65 JET with afterburner, a combination that greatly multiplies the engine's normal output. The Grumman F9F-9 is the THIRD new J65 JET installation to be disclosed in recent weeks, and brings to SEVEN the announced list of J65 JET-powered high-performance fighters and bombers for the U.S. Air Force and the U.S. Navy.

In service operation, even without afterburner, THE J65 JET DEVELOPS HIGHER THRUST than its announced rating of 7220 lbs. thrust with 6% LESS FUEL than specification requirements. This outstanding performance today is combined with the demonstrated capacity of the J65 Jet for power growth to meet the requirements of tomorrow's advanced aircraft.

Sec. Talbott's Pledge. What makes Air Force Secretary Harold E. Talbott's address to the Air Force Association different from many previous expositions of weaknesses in the Services' career incentive is that he promises to do something about them.

He not only explained forcefully and pungently the many harassments of Service family life (see text starting on the first page of this issue), but he vowed that as long as he is Secretary he will fight to overcome them—and he included a promise to do all in his power "to get an across-the-board pay raise." Furthermore, he called on the 1,500 AFA members present at the dinner to help him.

Besides seeking legislation in instances where the law needs changing, Mr. Talbott said that he would do as much as he is able to do administratively. Because the shortage in doctors means that fewer Service families can get medical care, the Secretary said that they were trying to relieve medical officers of administrative work so that "doctors will be free to doctor."

To alleviate the hardships involved in changing stations, the Air Force is working to assure that everyone is given at least 60 days' notice on permanent change of station and that as many shifts as possible will be effected during those months when children are not in school. In this connection, he said, a dislocation allowance amounting to one month's extra quarters allowance will be sought to provide for the extra expenses involved in transferring households and consideration is being given to authorizing a travel allowance for children under five years of age.

Mr. Talbott pledged to oppose all those who seek to restrict the Exchanges and commissaries; in fact, he declared he will strive to broaden the scope of these facilities for Service families. He wants them to carry "bigger stocks, more brand names," to sell at lower prices and return to the practice of taking special orders on goods not normally sold in PX's.

On housing he declared the Air Force wants to classify more bases as permanent so that Wherry housing can be extended. On Wherry housing he gave notice that he will not stand for contractors victimizing Service families by building substandard facilities for them.

The Secretary did not mince words on these matters—he said he will fight for them as long as he is Secretary. In that he has the whole-hearted support of all Service personnel and their families.

The Service Wife. All of the Armed Forces are showing wise judgment in placing ever increasing emphasis on the role of the Service wife in the intra-Service campaign to lick serious morale problems. At the Air Force Association convention, Secretary Talbott made it a particular point to hail the Air Force wife by saying he had never encountered "better managers."

At USAF Headquarters, Mr. Talbott's tribute has been backed up by an advisory communication to commanders which suggests that study be given to the establishment of Base Women's Councils. These would be comprised of wives representing a cross-section of dependents.

In the Air Force, as in the Army, Navy, Coast Guard, and Marine Corps, councils of wives at various bases have given commanders invaluable assistance in matters pertaining to education, religious instruction, commissary and exchange operations, nursery facilities, housing, and aid to dependents at times of crises.

"Frank, open discussion of these and other problems of interest," says the Air Force, "will pay dividends as wives realize they count in the Air Force picture."

One example: probably nothing in recent years has contributed as much to the morale of members of the global Strategic Air Command as the energetic Dependents Assistance Program, sparked by Officer and NonCom Wives under supervision of Mrs. Curtis E. LeMay.

Division Rotation. The Army's soon-to-be announced plan for rotation of entire divisions instead of individual replacements to and from overseas stations has much to commend it.

Such a procedure would have a striking effect on morale and esprit and hence on combat effectiveness. Career commissioned and non-commissioned officers will be able to plan their family life well in advance, for units would move on fixed schedules. Further, it is understood that shifts would be synchronized with school sessions so that the education of the children of Service families would not be unduly interrupted. By keeping organizations together for longer, stabilized periods there would be restored more of that fierce esprit de corps that marked the earlier days of the Service when personnel of outfits stayed together for many years.

Furthermore, as explained in our article on the first page of this issue, there will be an opportunity for a much better utilization of personnel: fewer training divisions will be needed and more combat divisions may be built. This better use of manpower can, of course, be vastly increased if efforts to improve career incentives are successful so that the present wasteful and expensive rapid turnover of personnel is reduced.

IN THE JOURNAL

10 Years Ago — Allied air and ground forces with teamwork and power are in the midst of effective action to undermine and crush the ability of the Germans to make a prolonged stand in northern France. Another trap is closing on that part of the enemy armies which escaped the liquidated pocket at Falaise.

50 Years Ago—In General Orders No. 27, Department of the Visayas, Philippines Division, the commanding general takes an advanced position in favor of vigorous physical training in the Army by announcing that in his department physical training "including, participation in authorized athletic contests," shall be regarded as other drills, and any injury received while engaged in such exercise shall be reported as incurred in line of duty.

90 Years Ago—Iron-clad Mahopac went on her trial trip up the Hudson on Saturday. The vessel made about eight knots. She exercised her 15-inch guns a couple of hours.

Promotion of WAVES

Editor, THE JOURNAL:

As a woman lieutenant, line, Regular Navy, I read with much interest the article in the 24 July issue of THE JOURNAL concerning the "hump" problem in Air Force promotions. The release of the Air Force selection briefing and the inference that the Air Force intends to ask Congress to approve a sizable increase in the Regular Air Force ranks to ease the "hump" problem, is of further interest in comparison with Navy policy.

The Navy has had a "hump" of women line lieutenants and lieutenant commanders, Regular Navy, for some three years due to three factors.

1. The majority of women originally integrated into the Regular Navy in 1948 were lieutenants.

2. From 1948 until 1951 a constant input into the Regular Navy was assured because women ensigns were commissioned in the Regular Navy. In 1951 all women ensigns were initially commissioned in the Reserve, and were then, upon request, selected for the Regular Navy under the Augmentation Program.

3. Public Law 625 which integrated women into the Regular Navy limited Navy women line lieutenant commanders to 20% of the Regular Navy women line officers.

Planning in 1951 would have foreseen the promotional "hump" of 1953 and 1954 and that revision of Public Law 625 was indicated. In the fall of 1953 a memorandum from the Assistant Chief of Naval Personnel for Women announced that a modification of Public Law 625 to provide for additional lieutenant commander vacancies was to be presented to Congress. This modification was to permit a 30% restriction on the commander, lieutenant commander ranks, with not more than 10% to be in the commander rank. This legislation is evidently still in the planning stage.

The recent selection to lieutenant commander, line and staff corps, of USN WAVE officers has emphasized the lack of any consistent promotion policy for women officers. The legal eligibility requirement for promotion from lieutenant to lieutenant commander is four years in grade. However, a review of selection practice since 1949 indicates the desirability of establishing a selection zone comparable to selection zones established for male officers. Selection percentages have ranged from 100% selected of those considered to about 16%. The 1953 WAVE lieutenant commander selection board was allowed four vacancies and selected four officers who had previously been considered and not selected. The 1954 WAVE lieutenant commander selection board reviewed the records of all the officers eligible by law to be promoted, including those who would not be eligible until 1 July 1954, and promoted 15 out of 94. Is this variation in selection policy the result of confidential instructions to selection boards or has promotion policy been left to the discretion of individual boards?

The selection of 15 line officers out of 94 considered, three supply corps officers out of 18 considered, obviously means that many excellent officers who were selected for the Regular Navy as career officers, and who were well-deserving of promotion, failed of selection. It has been a bitter blow to morale. My congratulations to the Air Force for its concern over the threat of promotion stagnation for its career officers.

Lt., USN

50,000 Forgotten Men!

Editor, THE JOURNAL:

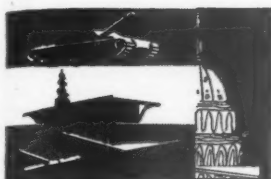

Approximately 50,000 retired Army Officers could not afford Survivors Benefits under Public Law 239—83d Congress. When we pass on, our widows will receive pensions of $48 per month—some $75 per month.

Compare this with the Kaplan Committee Plan: 80% of the first $100 of their gross pay, plus 20% of the remainder.

It is felt that Congress desires to be fair and just to all, and that if their attention is brought to this discrepancy, these 50,000 retired officers will be included in the Kaplan Committee Plan legislation.

Lt. COL., USA-RETD.

defense ON CAPITOL HILL

DESPITE EFFORTS by Senator Humphrey (D-Minn.), the 83d Congress failed to amend the new tax bill so retired military personnel under 65 would get the same benefits accorded other Federal workers. An amendment proposed by Senator Humphrey but not acted on during the adjournment rush would have knocked out a discriminatory provision of the new Internal Revenue Code which specifically excludes retired personnel of the Armed Forces from a benefit worth about $240 annually to those who retire before age 65. "We'll try again next year," Senator Humphrey's office said this week. If such an amendment is enacted early in the next Congress it has a good chance of being made retroactive, according to Capitol Hill sources, so those affected would not suffer a loss for the 1954 tax year.

THE SURVIVORS' BENEFITS investigation, authorized by the House just prior to adjournment, will be conducted by Representative William H. Bates (R-Mass.), Chairman, Robert W. Kean (R-N. J.), Pat Kearney (R-N. Y.), Olin E. Teague (D-Tex.) and Porter Hardy, Jr. (D-Va.). Committees represented by the members include Armed Services (Bates and Hardy), Veterans' Affairs (Kearney and Teague), and Ways and Means (Kean). The group has been given authority to draft legislation to straighten out the hodge-podge laws governing survivors' benefits for military personnel.

LAST-MINUTE BILLS introduced in the adjournment rush include one by Senator Saltonstall (R-Mass.) to allow members of the Armed Services to designate the Eastern Orthodox faith as a religious preference on their dogtags; and another by Representative Rogers (R-Mass.) to authorize certain enlisted personnel retired for disability (including those who had at least 90 days' active military service between 7 Dec. '41 and 1 Jan. '46) to draw mustering-out pay.

APPROXIMATELY 15 military bills, passed during the final days of the 83d Congress, still are pending the President's signature. They include ROPA; the Military Housing Bill; the Navy MSC bill; the Army JAGC bill; the USCOA revocation bill; and the Naval vessels disposal bill.

A PARTING BLAST at Navy ship construction awards was made by Representative Charles A. Wolverton (R-N. J.) in a letter to SecNav Charles S. Thomas. The Congressman charged that the New York Shipbuilding Corp., and the Philadelphia Navy Yard have been "totally ignored in recent months in the granting of contracts for ship construction." He asked why in some instances awards have gone to other yards on a noncompetitive basis and the New York and Philadelphia yards "were not even given the opportunity of bidding."

SERVICE LEGISLATION which bogged down during the 83d Congress includes the bill introduced by Representative Bennett (D-Fla.) to reduce full rental allowance payments for substandard quarters, and the measure introduced by Representative Short (R-Mo.) providing for interservice transfer of commissioned officers of all four Services. Both plans are expected to receive renewed attention by the Congress next year.

ALSO NOT ACTED ON were several measures requested by the Defense Department to boost pay rates for personnel engaged in different types of hazardous duty. Continuing efforts will be made by the Defense Department for passage of these measures.

PASSED BY THE HOUSE but not acted on by the Senate was a bill to authorize the appointment of Maj. Gen. Frank H. Partridge, USA-Ret., to a high Justice Department position in the Immigration and Naturalization Service.

SIGNED BY THE PRESIDENT this week was the measure which permits Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, USN, to take "outside" employment with a firm doing business with the Government. The legislation was necessary because five-star officers are never legally retired. Admiral Nimitz has been assigned to the Western Sea Frontier since 1948, although not on active duty.

CRITICISM of the Defense Department attitude toward ROPA was voiced by Senator Margaret Chase Smith who said she personally believes the Regulars fought the measure because "They simply do not want officers with rank in the Reserves. It is a threat to their ability to accelerate the temporary promotion of Regular officers at a time of full mobilization."

IMPROVED SHIPBUILDING is expected to result from the Congress' action in passing amendments to the Merchant Marine Act. The amendments, contained in HR 9987, now awaiting Presidential signature, are designed to facilitate private financing of new-ship construction and thereby bolster the sagging merchant fleet.

IMMEDIATE U.M.T. was advocated this week by Senator Edward Martin (R-Pa.). In a speech at the Army War College, Carlisle Barracks, Pa., Senator Martin called for "putting into operation without delay a system that would make basic military training a part of the education of every young man who is physically qualified." He said the United States "most dangerous weakness is our lack of reserves trained in the skills required by the many technical services of modern warfare."

SHIPMENT TO OVERSEAS AREAS of automobiles owned by military personnel should not be confined to Government-owned ships, according to tentative recommendations made by the House Committee on Merchant Marine and Fisheries. Reporting on the operations of the Military Sea Transportation Service, the Committee tentatively recommended that the SecDef study "the need for legislation to remove the present limitation."

cise at Okinawa. They acted as bombardment ships to support the landing ships of U. S. Marines, and between them fired about five tons of six-inch and 4.5-inch shell.

On completion of the landing exercise these two ships joined an American task force to participate in fleet exercises with cruisers and destroyers. This consisted of a night battle in which H.M.S. Newfoundland, H.M.S. Consort, and an American cruiser tried to break through Tshushima Straits and were opposed by five U. S. ships, including three destroyers.

Two days of tactical exercises and AA shooting at drone targets completed this valuable week.

WEATHER BALLOON RECORD?

The 5/25th Weather Service detachment at Keflavik International Airport, Iceland, announced the possible breaking of a world's record for a weather balloon ascent set last July at Holloman AFB, New Mexico. The local calculations, being re-checked by USAF Headquarters, show the Iceland filled gas bag added another 3,000 feet to the stateside try.

The Holloman ascent reached nearly 26 miles. The Iceland climb hit the 140,000 foot mark—slightly under 27 miles from the earth's surface—before the helium filled sphere burst in heights never reached by man.

The MATS weather detachment is commanded by Maj. Lewis J. Neyland.

Royal Navy Carries On Work With US in Pacific

Since the signing of the armistice in Korea, the Royal Navy has continued to cooperate with the U. S. Navy in the same way as during the Korean War, according to the British Information Services in London. The programs of individual ship sars planned so that no opportunity of exercising with the Americans is lost, an Admiralty statement said on 18 Aug.

The latest example of these continued combined exercises was participation of H.M.S. Newfoundland (flying the flag of Read Adm. G. V. Gladstone, C.B.), and H.M.S. Consort, in a marine landing exer-

CREATION OF THE ATOMIC CANNON and its deployment to Europe have "well justified" the research and development and production expense, according to Asst. SecDef Quarles, Pentagon R&D chief. He made this statement at last week's Air Force Assn. convention. He had been asked "why it would not be better to invest the taxpayers' money in air power rather than in ground atomic cannons?"

MR. QUARLES responded by saying he was glad it wasn't up to him to decide whether to buy another B-36 or 280mm. cannon, added that "we need both . . . and our economy is capable of producing both." His statement brought applause from the air-minded audience.

AF SEC'Y TALBOTT gave added emphasis to his challenging speech on military morale at the Air Force Assn. convention by telling Air Force commanders they must drive home to their people that "the Air Force is a human institution which seeks to take care of its own. You can emphasize," said Mr. Talbott, "that we are doing everything we can to make the Air Force more attractive."

CONGRESS WILL BE ASKED next year to make the Missing Persons Act permanent legislation. It's due to expire on 30 June 1955. The measure provides authority for payment to dependents of those who become "missing" while on active duty.

FILM STAR Lt. Col. Jimmy Stewart, USAFR, and Cdr. Arthur Godfrey, USNR, of radio-television fame clearly were out-ranked for the affection of eager young autograph seekers of the Boys Town, Nebr., Choir during the Air Force Assn. banquet. The youngsters politely but studiously passed by the celebrated entertainers to put their pads and pencils before Lt. Gen. Jimmy Doolittle—the prime target. The three-star general fulfilled all autograph requests, then made it a point to chat with the delighted choristers.

UNLESS THERE'S A REVERSAL of present Pentagon planning, Congress will not be requested to vote extension of the Doctor Draft Act next year. It's believed that enough doctors and dentists will become available through normal operation of the draft, although some officials are concerned that it will be a tight squeak.

DOCTOR DRAFT DEBATE has in the past provided the American Medical Association with a forum for attacks on family medical care, the contention being that doctors should not be inducted to care for wives and children of servicemen.

SERVICE ACADEMY FOOTBALL rivalry will be a three-way tug after the Air Force Academy gets underway. The push has started already. AFSec Talbott in his address to the Air Force Association called upon its members to "assist us in getting the outstanding young men of your communities interested" in the Air Force Academy. Then he added: "If one of these young men should turn out to be a star quarterback or halfback as well, don't let it stand in his way!"

PRESSURE IS CERTAIN to develop on Capitol Hill early next year to force the Defense Dept. and Budget Bureau to ease the ban against wearing of the new Army green uniform. The Army has been told that the new garb may not be worn—even on an optional basis—until September 1956.

THE TEXTILE INDUSTRY AND TAILORS had counted on a considerable voluntary sale of the Green uniform to officers and some enlisted men during 1955. This new business was awaited anxiously. The Army wanted to hold up sales to individuals only long enough to make absolutely certain of strict adherence to specifications.

THEN THE DOD AND BOB stepped in. A DOD spokesman said the prohibition against wearing the new uniform, even on an optional basis, results from a determination to make sure that existing uniform stocks are utilized.

ARMY OFFICIALS POINTED OUT that Congress could make serious trouble at budget time if current uniform inventories were not used economically. They contend that's control enough. There's little doubt many officers will find themselves with threadbare uniforms unless the present ban is eased. As the situation now stands, West Point graduates of the class of '55 will be required to buy present uniforms, notwithstanding the fact that the Green uniform had been approved by a Congress a year before their graduation.

COVETOUS EYES were cast by the Marine Corps at Schofield Barracks in Hawaii. The Marines wanted to station a division there. But the Army voiced strong opposition at the highest levels of the Defense Dept. and held on to the famed post. It will become home for the 25th Infantry Division.

ARMY PAY will remain on a once-a-month basis. There's no present intention to follow the Air Force, which will join the Navy and Marine Corps in twice-a-month pay. . . . SPECULATION IS GROWING that Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor will be kept in the Far East and will replace Gen. John E. Hull as FEC and U.N. Commander next May when the latter is scheduled to retire. Gen. Hull could be retained on duty beyond that date, but probably will wind up his distinguished career in the Far East post. . . . G/A DOUGLAS MacARTHUR is scheduled to visit Wright-Patterson AFB, Ohio, on 2 Sept. to participate in dedication ceremonies for UNIVAC, the high-speed electronic computer. He's going not as an "active duty" five-star general, but as chairman of the board of Remington Rand, which manufactures UNIVAC. . . . THE NAVY WILL BE OUTRANKED at Continental Defense Command Hdqs at Ent AFB, Colo., where General Benjamin Chidlaw, USAF, is chief and Lt. Gen. John T. Lewis is the top Army man. The Navy has named two-star RAdm. Albert K. Morehouse, currently Commander, Fleet Air, Alameda, to the post. . . . THE USS TARAWA will become the first carrier to make an east to west world cruise when she transits the Panama Canal early next month. Her skipper is Capt. S. C. Strong, USN. Because she hasn't been modernized, the Tarawa can still squeeze through the Panama Canal.

... the CONTINENTAL E-185 or the CONTINENTAL E-225

Yours in the NEW Beechcraft Model E35

It embodies wider utility than ever before, the newest Beechcraft E35, and one big reason is that it gives you your choice of power. It comes equipped with either of two outstanding engines, depending on the performance characteristics you desire ... The standard E35, powered, as for several years past, by the 205-hp E-185, gives you 175 mph, with the thorough dependability you expect of Continental power. For speeds up to 9 miles higher, along with higher ceiling and faster rate of climb, specify the Continental E-225. You can still obtain the cruising range of the standard power plant, when you wish, by utilizing less of the engine's output ... Today's fine Bonanzas, with choice between two proven engines, are another strong reason for choosing a plane with Continental power.

Here's What One Officers' Wives Club Does For Its Members and Community

A list of the activities supported, or contributed to, by the treasury of the Officers' Wives Club of Hamilton AFB, Calif., has been compiled by Mrs. Arleen Gaenzle, first Assistant Treasurer of the Club.

The list was published in the "Lady Hamilton," the club's publication of which Mrs. Gaenzle is also an Associate Editor, to show what is done with the fifty cents a month the members pay in dues. Mrs. Gaenzle wrote:

"The dues money paid by members of the Officers' Wives Club goes into our treasury and supports the following:

1. Each month a certain amount is given to the Base Chaplain for charity for Hamilton Air Force Base.

2. A large amount has been given to the Chapel Guild for braces for crippled children.

3. The Officers' Wives Club pays for complete child care at the Base Nursery for the Gray Ladies and Nurses Aides. (These girls contribute their time free to helping the Base Hospital and the Dependent Clinic.)

4. We contribute to various organizations such as the American Cancer Society, etc.

5. There have always been numerous projects paid for by the Wives Club such as the Wading Pool for children, decorations for the Dependent Clinic, curtains for the Base Hospital, etc.

6. We donate to the Christmas Party for all HAFB children each year.

7. Baby spoons are presented to all new babies, and flowers are sent to all hospitalized members who are in the Base Hospital.

8. A monthly Welcoming Coffee is held for new members. Games Day with bridge prizes is sponsored once a month. The Club has a monthly luncheon on the second Thursday of each month.

9. Special nursery rates of 50¢ an afternoon are offered on Games Day and Luncheon Day with the balance of the fee being paid by the Wives Club.

10. We sponsor all Brownie Troops on the Base and in Rafael Village.

11. The Lady Hamilton (the club publication) is paid for by the Officers' Wives Club. (The wrapping and mailing of the paper has now been accomplished by each organization taking turns once a year. It is felt that this not only eliminates a small number of girls taking on this monthly job, but gives each member a chance to contribute a small amount of time to the project and bring them in closer contact with the Lady Hamilton.)

And last—but not least—there are numerous girls who give many hours of free time each week, working and plan the club activities in order to give you an Officers' Wives Club you may well be proud of and enjoy.

"The second Thursday of each month your Officers' Wives Club holds a luncheon with all the 'trimmings' starting at 1 o'clock.

The Officers' Wives Club underwrites the luncheon, except for the cost of the food. This is paid for by each member who attends and is collected at the door. At the sign-in tables you will also be given a door prize ticket. The stub of the ticket is dropped in a box when you are served."

speech and showed their approval by their strong and prolonged applause.

"Let's get down to cases. I will start with PAY. The cost of living has gone up over 200% since 1939. Industrial pay has gone up 315%. Air Force pay has risen only 110% for airmen and 59% for officers.

"Even these raises have been nullified somewhat by reductions in fringe benefits, and by the excise taxes and surcharges on Commissary and PX items. I think most civilian families would be scandalized if they could see how frugally Air Force families are obliged to live, how frequently they borrow money from relatives to pay for medical and other expenses which the Government used to pay for them. I don't think I have encountered better managers than Air Force wives, or more thrifty budgeting, but if you take a look in their kitchens a few days before pay day, you won't find much on the shelves! Here is the heart of it, then: we spend millions for equipment, and nickels for the manpower which has to operate it!

"Now, it requires legislative authority to obtain an across-the-board increase in Service pay. I want the Air Force to know that I shall do all in my power to secure this at the next session.

"In the meantime, there are some things we can do in the Air Force to take a little pressure off the situation. Beginning in October, the Air Force will be paid twice a month. This will end the silly business of having to stretch a single paycheck over a 30-day period. I think this will be welcome news to Air Force wives.

"Next, we have definitely ended the constant, unreasonable attacks on flying pay. In this session of Congress, not one question was raised on the requirement for flight pay—and the restrictions for adequate flight training time have largely been removed.

"Finally, we have secured legislation permitting us to boost the reenlistment bonus. For example, an airman, at the end of his first 4-year enlistment, can draw as much as $800 instead of the old maximum of $160; and the maximum re-up bonus has been raised from $1440 to $2000.

"But don't misunderstand me. These are just small easements that lie within our own authority. I don't think we can hope to compete with direct pay offered by industry. Instead, I think we should restore the SECURITY, and the PRIVILEGES, which used to make Service careers attractive.

"For instance, let us look at Housing. I know perfectly well from my own investigation that this is one of the sorest points in Air Force life. I mean homes for our families and decent barracks for our airmen and bachelor officers.

"In 1938, all our people had a home, and we had no manpower problem. During the terrific expansion of World War II airpower, only minimum facilities and temporary housing were built. After the war, the Air Force was so busy closing bases that scant heed was paid to housing.

"Since wartime, much has been done. We have built up our housing from 2500 family units to over 78,000. But—we still have about 100,000 AF families without adequate housing. When families aren't lucky enough to

"I WILL FIGHT—"

In closing his speech to the Air Force Association, Secretary of the Air Force Talbott said:

"I have nothing but praise for the airmen and officers for the outstanding job they are doing for their country. When I see the devotion and dedication to duty that is so willingly given, it makes any contribution of mine seem small, but I do want to say this:

"I realize perfectly well that in this speech I have made some serious commitments to the men and women of our Service. I have not done so lightly. I have given each subject careful thought. I want everyone in the Air Force to hear me when I make this pledge: that as long as I am Secretary, I will fight unceasingly, with any and every resource I have, to make good on my commitments, and to make the Air Force the most sought after and prized career in the United States."

get base housing, they have to hunt around in the nearest community, sometimes 10 miles or more from a base. You can figure out the monthly gas bill this lets them in for. Worse than that, their quarters allowance is frequently not enough to pay the civilian rent. The airman pays the difference.

"Sometimes there are no rentals at any price. Then, the family has to go out on a limb and buy a house, make a down payment. If they get shifted without warning, they're left holding the bag. Ladies and gentlemen, this is no way to treat the people who watch over the country.

"The answer, of course, is to provide more permanent housing—both appropriated and Wherry—on-base. Under the law, such housing may only go on a PERMANENT base. We are therefore going ahead as rapidly as possible to classify more of our bases as permanent. In addition, we have secured a change in the law whereby, for the first time, Service personnel can obtain a 100% FHA loan if they want to buy a house.

"In passing, let me say that this Wherry Housing has been a Godsend, but it has to be built and operated according to Air Force needs. For instance, I know a base in Florida where the partitions are so flimsy between the apartments that all the families might as well as living in one room, as far as noise is concerned. That's no way to house a man who must spend long hours, sometimes days, in the air, and needs his sleep.

"At another base, in Texas, the local Wherry contractor is actually victimizing Air Force families with a system of fines and charges for a whole catalogue of alleged offenses—annoying little regulations that make an airman seem more like a prisoner than one of the most honored men in our country. No contractor has the right to victimize our men. I give notice here and now that as long as I am Secretary of the Air Force, I will not stand for degrading things of this nature.

"In addition to setting up a major building program in this country, we are taking steps to provide good housing overseas. When we get through, we shall have first-rate housing for every family overseas, as well as in the United States.

"The next item on my list is the subject of MEDICAL CARE FOR DEPENDENTS. We all know that a man entering the Air Force has been led to believe that his family would be well looked after, especially when he is away on temporary duty. This is a moral contract.

"This contract has not been kept. I know of hundreds of cases of hardship. I suppose there are few Air Force families who have not at some time or other been in debt for medical services they have had to purchase on the outside. When the husband, the breadwinner, has such a modest pay check, these doctor bills are a major problem, especially when there is a growing family.

"The basic reason for these medical hardships is, once again, the great expansion of our Air Force. We simply haven't got enough doctors. They do a splendid job for the men, but there aren't enough of them to look after all the wives and children as well.

"Here is what we are going to do about this problem:

"First, The Surgeon General is taking immediate steps to cut down the administrative paperwork, which is the bane of every doctor in the Air Force. We are going to insist that administrative personnel deal with these matters and that our available doctors be free to doctor.

"Second, The Air Force has sponsored the submission to Congress of a Bill which provides that when Government doctors and facilities are not available to give immediate and complete care to an Air Force family, that the family may call a civilian doctor at Government expense.

"Next to housing and medical care, I believe that a leading cause of hardship in the Air Force—perhaps the leading cause—is the INCESANT SEPARATIONS from wife and children. These are caused by frequent temporary duty, either overseas or at schools in this country. And think of the family insecurity that is brought about by frequent and sudden changes in station!

"The cause of all this moving around is well known in the Air Force, but I doubt whether it is known at all to the general public.

"Part of it has been due to our heavy undertakings to the NATO countries. We are by far the principal contributor of airpower to the free world. For years now, a comparatively few Wings have had to take repeated tours of duty overseas—sometimes at short notice, with the wives and families left behind to get on as best they could. (Incidentally, with the increasing strength of our Air Force, overseas duty will now be shared among many more units, and we shall achieve much more stability.)

"Then, we have had to do a tremendous amount of retraining, during our change-over from propeller to jet airplanes. Perhaps we have overdone this additional training, but I think that the whole Air Force will agree with me that it is better to be over-trained than under-trained.

"The greatest cause of family insecurity is the fact that we have had to draw skilled airmen and officers out of existing units, and use them as cadres to activate the new units of our expanding program. There has been no way we could avoid this. Each new Wing requires a nucleus of highly skilled men to handle its new equipment, and to teach new men how to take over.

"We are not out of the woods yet on any part of this program. I am not going to make any easy promises that I cannot fulfill. We still have 22 more Wings to activate. But I will say this: I think that the worst is over. Within two years, the Air Force will reach a stable point. In the meantime, here is what we are doing to cut down hardships all we can:

"First, We are setting up procedures by which an airman and his family will get at least sixty days' notice of each permanent change of station. There will be exceptions

—we can't do it all overnight, but in general, the family will know when they are going, where they are going, and the type of housing awaiting them. We are also going to try and make these moves coincide with the end of the children's school year, and we are providing for concurrent travel wherever housing is available.

"Next, we have secured legislation which raises the weight allowance, for moving household effects, to an average 11,000 pounds. We can also vary the weight allowance to our families according to their needs. We are also considering provisions for travel allowances for children under 5 years old—an allowance that does not now exist.

"We are asking for the enactment of new legislation which would provide for a special dislocation allowance. Each family would be paid one month's extra housing allowance on a permanent change of station, to take care of the many extras involved in moving from one house to another.

"The last, but far from least of the troubles we are trying to reform, has to do with the Commissaries and Post Exchanges.

"You know, the general public thinks that the Air Force lives for next to nothing, that they buy their groceries and clothes and almost anything they want at cut-rate prices. You and I know how untrue this is. The Commissaries and Post Exchanges are under incessant attack. Their stocks have been cut back. Their prices have been raised. Surcharges have been imposed on their sales. Paid lobbies in Washington continue trying to get them closed altogether.

"For my part, I can hardly tell you the contempt I feel for people, for organizations, who are trying to take away from the Armed Services their only chance to make their meager pay go a little farther. I will say this: as long as I have this job, I will fight to the utmost to prevent the closing of the Commissaries and the Post Exchanges. So far from closing them, I want to see their facilities expanded! I want to see them have bigger stocks, more name brands, lower prices. I want to restore to them the right to take 'special orders' for objects not in stock. We have already put an end to the unbusinesslike procedure of having the commissaries close on pay day, of all days, to take inventory! I believe there are many more things we can do to help them serve the Air Force better. I propose to secure an expert management survey to help us improve the way they operate.

"And bear in mind, all this costs the Government nothing! In fact, the Government makes money, for the Post Exchanges pay for almost all the recreational activities on an Air Base—facilities which perhaps the Government should provide.

"Now, that covers the main items we are going to reform. I have only had time to cover the top of each problem. There are many I haven't touched at all. For example, I recognize the inequities in retirement and survivor benefits. These subjects are under study and will be corrected. Not one of these things is, in itself, all-important. Put together, however, they make the difference between an Air Force career being attractive to the best men in our country, or being unattractive."

AF SETS TWICE MONTH PAY

Following disclosure by Secretary Harold E. Talbott of its approval, the Air Force released details regarding implementation of the twice-a-month pay plan on a six month's test basis beginning in October.

Airmen will be paid on the 5th and 20th of each month; officers will be permitted to elect whether to receive their pay once a month—on the 5th—or twice a month.

Pay earning periods under the once-a-month plan will be from the first through the last day of the month. Under the twice-a-month schedule, pay earning periods will be from the first to the 15th and the 16th through the last day of the month.

The first pay day for those on a semi-monthly basis, meaning all airmen and many officers, will be 20 Oct., with 5 Nov. set as the first pay day for those officers who choose to remain on the once-a-month basis.

The Air Force said that flight pay and other incentive pay would be paid on a once-a-month basis. Similarly, retired pay will continue to be paid once-a-month.

ROPA Sets Maximum Ages, Provides Forced Attrition, Constructive Service

and Coast Guard achieves a result which is perhaps comparable, but not identical.

Maximum Ages

ROPA provides for the discharge or transfer to the Retired Reserve of officers when they attain prescribed ages. These maximum ages are not uniform among the services.

For the Army (and effective only until 1 July 1960) the following ages apply: Maj. Gen.—62; Brig. Gen.—60; Col.—58; Lt. Col. and below—55. Beginning 1 July 1960, the maximum age for all officers below the grade of major general becomes 60.

For the Air Force, the maximum ages are as follows: Maj. Gen.—62; Brig. Gen. and below—60.

For the Navy-Marine Corps, the maximum age is 62, except that officers who cannot complete 20 years of service for retirement purposes before reaching age 62 may be retained on an active duty status until they attain age 64.

Separation

In general, the provisions for forced attrition are comparable to those applicable to Regular officers.

Except for certain unit officers and positions, individuals who fail of selection twice are removed from an active status.

In addition to forced attrition because of age, ROPA carries forward the provisions applicable to Army and AF Regular officers which require that major generals shall be removed from an active status after having served a total of 35 years of service or five years in permanent grade, whichever is later; brigadier generals and colonels after 30 years' service or five years in grade, whichever is later; officers below the grade of colonel after having served a total of 28 years of service. In the Army these provisions are delayed until five years after date of enactment of ROPA, two years in the AF.

Constructive Credit

on an appropriate lineal list in Navy-Marine Corps-Coast Guard) may be given at the time of initial appointment to individuals whose experience or qualifications warrant their initial appointment in higher grades.

For example, in the Army and AF, constructive service is mandatory for persons appointed in the following designations: medical officers, 4 years; dental officers, 3 years; veterinary officers, 2 years; judge advocates, 3 years; chaplains, 3 years.

Constructive service is discretionary with the Secretary for officers assigned in the Medical Service Corps of the Army, or in a comparable assignment in the AF, with a minimum of three years of constructive credit for the degree of doctor of philosophy, or comparable degree in a science allied to medicine.

In addition, the bill also provides discretionary authority to grant constructive service for special qualifications with respect to other appointments based on "experience, education and such other qualifications as may be prescribed . . ." The following table shows the effect of these provisions:

Initial Appointment

Years of Service Credited	Grade In Which Appointed
Less than 3	2d Lt.
At least 3, but less than 7	1st Lt.
At least 7, but less than 14	Capt.
At least 14, but less than 21	Maj.
At least 21	Lt. Col.
At least 23	Col. or Lt. Col.

Temporary Promotions

Except for the Navy, Marine Corps and Coast Guard, ROPA contains no provision for temporary promotion of Reserve officers. Under current procedures, except for the Navy, Marine Corps and Coast Guard, temporary promotions are not given to Reserve officers not serving on active duty.

A section-by-section analysis of the Act will be carried in subsequent issues of THE JOURNAL if the measure is signed by the President.

Colonel Walters, who reported there in June, 1952, has won recognition for his efficient administration and warm friendships among Lockheed personnel and Marietta people.

On the basis of performance maintained at the Plant, the Air Force's Air Materiel Command has directed the C-130 production placed at Marietta and has awarded the plant a large modernization and IRAN contract for work on early models of B-47 bombers.

He rose to the rank of lieutenant colonel before returning to civilian life.

ALBERT J. BORELLI has been appointed sales manager of the Television and Radio Department of the National Electric Products Corporation. During WW II, Mr. Borelli served as a captain in the Army Signal Corps, and was attached to the Air Force as a radio communications officer.

Jacobson, former senior project engineer, was appointed chief engineer. During WW II, Mr. Jacobson served in the Air Force and worked chiefly with radio-controlled target aircraft.

Sea-Dart Makes Rough Waters Test in Pacific

The Convair XF2Y-1 Sea-Dart has started its first rough-water landing, taxi, and takeoff tests in the open sea, B. F. Coggan, manager of Convair-San Diego, has announced.

Four successful landings of the Navy delta-wing interceptor were made during the first of a series of tests on the Pacific Ocean several miles off Point Loma.

C. E. Richbourg, Convair engineering test pilot, conducted the tests. He reported the Sea-Dart, equipped with hydro skis, operated fully as well on the open ocean as it has on San Diego Bay. No difficulty was experienced in maneuvering the needle-nosed Sea-Dart through ground swells after landing at sea.

After the plane's fourth landing on the ocean, the first open-sea retrieving operation was made when the Sea-Dart was floated into the stern well of the USS Catamount, a Navy landing ship dock which stood by for the tests.

U. S. COAST GUARD

Secretary of The Treasury—George M. Humphrey
Commandant—Vice Adm. Alfred C. Richmond

FOUR Coast Guard selection boards have concluded deliberations and it is expected that officers in the grades of lieutenant (jg) through commander will be temporarily promoted this Fall.

All those named are expected to be upgraded within 15 months.

Zones of consideration, for the four grades of officers considered for advancement, were as follows:

To captain—Cdr. Frederick G. Wild (1359), to commander—LCdr. Clyde R. Brink (2485), to lieutenant commander—Lt. Jack S. Thuma (4207), and to lieutenant—Lt. (jg) Richard D. Hodges (4418).

In all, approximately 230 officers will be advanced in the following numbers: captain—10, commander—35, lieutenant commander—150, and lieutenant—125.

"The number of officers," the Coast Guard said, "considered for promotion will not necessarily be the number promoted at this time, since the board considered the names of all those officers who might be called upon to fill anticipated needs during the coming months."
